DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

This is a response to the amendment filed 07/10/2006. Claims 28-32 have been added. Claims 1-32 are currently pending.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of Group VII (Claims 27-32) in the reply filed on 07/10/2006 is acknowledged. However, since no argument was set forth by the Applicants, the election was treated as an Election without traverse. Hence, Claims 1-26 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a non-elected. Claims 27-32 are considered.

Applicants are reminded to cancel the claims to the non-elected Group(s).

Priority

An application in which the benefits of an earlier application are desired must contain a specific reference to the earlier filed application(s) in the first sentence of the specification (37 CFR 1.78).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 27, 31-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for treatment of respiratory syncytial virus (RSV), does not reasonably provide enablement for prevention of RSV. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make or use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. The specification has some data regarding induction of antibodies which is categorized as an induction in immune response and treatment of RSV. However, the specification has no teaching regarding a subsequent exposure of the natural host to the virus and the level of protective immunity. In other words the specification has not shown any protective response absent undue experimentation.

Applicants have general statements regarding the prevention of RSV upon administration of SEQ ID NO: 13. However with regard to an unpredictable field, this does not constitute an adequate disclosure. See Fiers v. Revel (25USPQ2d 1601 at 1606; and also decision by the Federal Circuit with regard to the enablement issues see Genentech Inc. v. Novo Nordisk A/S, 42 USPQ2d 1001-1007). For example, the CAFC stated that “It is the specification, not the knowledge of one skilled in the art that must supply the novel aspects of an invention in order to constitute enablement.” (See page 1005 of the decision). In the instant case the specification does not teach or provide any guidance for prevention of RSV. This means that the disclosure must adequately guide the art worker to determine, without undue experimentation. The Applicants cannot rely on the knowledge of those skilled in the art to enable the claims without providing adequate teaching. Therefore, considering large quantity of experimentation needed, the unpredictability of the field, the state of the art, and breadth of the claims, it is concluded that undue experimentation would be required to enable the intended claim. Many of these factors have been summarized In re Wands, 858 F.2d 731, USPQ2d 1400 (Fed. Cir. 1988).

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 27-31 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 9-12 of U.S. Patent No. 6,616,930 B2. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because overlap in scope. In addition, the subject matter of the claims are so closely related that would incorporate overlap species and/or claim 27 is so broadly drafted that would incorporate any and all species that may or may not be present in 6,616,930 Patent.

Subject matter Free of Prior art

Claims 27-32 are deemed free of prior art, given failure of the prior art to teach or reasonably suggest the SEQ ID NO: 13. The closest art identified is Lawrence et al, Journal of General Microbiology, 1991, pages 1911-1921, and post filing article by Nguyen et al, Gene, 1998, pages 93-101.

No claims are allowed.
